How to get 50% off Herbalife Products

Herbalife has a wide range of nutritional and diet products for the body. Distributors can also earn commissions from selling products and recruiting new members. Its products are based on multi-ingredient nutritional and herbal supplements that contain vitamins, minerals, and essential oils and extracts such as aloe vera, green tea, ginseng, guarana, valerian, saw palmetto, and echinacea.

Herbalife pays only when someone buys its products. Herbalife encourages balanced nutrition and works with registered dietitians to ensure quality. The company also encourages active lifestyles and healthy habits.

Herbalife suggests that in the US and India all new distributors become preferred members rather than full distributors. Preferred members can buy the Herbalife products at a discount, but they cannot resell them or sponsor new people. Their purchases count toward their personal volume, which helps their upline. It is important that you only sponsor Herbalife distributors with a business plan.

To qualify as a Herbalife Supervisor, you must achieve 2,500 personal volume points in four consecutive calendar months. This must include all orders placed by your downline, including non-Supervisor Members who are not on your first Team Level. Total personal volumes of all qualified Team members counts towards your Group volume and Royalty overrides. Herbalife defines Group Volume as the cumulative volume of all qualified downline Members on your first Team Level (excluding your personally sponsored members). Herbalife also defines Total Volume as the combined amount of Group and Personal Volume.

The sales production (also known as volume points) a distributor earns is defined as the amount of Herbalife products ordered by the Distributors they personally sponsor and their Direct Downline.

Volume Points (VPs) include product sales, Herbalife Nutrition Club subscriptions and recurring monthly charges of Herbalife products by Direct Downline Distributors. VP does not include the purchase of Official Herbalife International Business Packs, literature items or sales tools.

To qualify as a supervisor, a distributor needs to earn 2,000 documented VP (of which at least 1,000 must be unencumbered). Herbalife has recently enhanced the Supervisor qualification to provide additional opportunities for distributors to reach this level more quickly and enjoy greater benefits. This includes a reduction of the minimum volume requirement to qualify and an elimination of the monthly bonus cap. The increase in volume requirements to qualify does not apply retroactively to any Supervisor Rank bonuses previously earned.
